

BULLSHIT

You are an extrovert. You enjoy being around people, going to parties, hanging around the watercooler, and just stringing people along. You're just naturally good with people. Whether agreeing with the boss, making sure the bank knows the check is in the mail, or simply assuring your significant other that you won't come in their mouth, yours is the silver tongue and the gift of gab.

Bullshits make good politicians, religious leaders, publicists, economists, and writers of horoscopes.

Your natural enemy is: other bullshits

You are most compatible with: Chickenshit

Famous bullshit include: The president, the last president, and the next president.

CHICKENSHIT

HORSESHIT

You are a rock. You are supremely confident in your abilities and knowledge. No one can tell you you're wrong, because you never are. Your bold statements don't let facts get in the way. You know that true wisdom never changes, and should be repeated often, loudly, and at inappropriate times and places. You don't need to change your mind. The Bible/Koran/Dianetics/Book of Mormon/Bhagavita/Dad/Mom/The President/some guy on TV said it, you believe it, and that settles it!

Your natural enemy is: Bullshit

You are most compatible with: Chickenshit

Famous horseshits include: Hitler, your racist uncle

APESHIT

You are a strong, forceful person who is used to getting his way. Your fiery passion is behind all that you do and say, struggling to be let out, at a party, after one too many. Your high standards may leave you dissatisfied with life and the stupid, stupid people around you, especially that bitch in human resources. You enjoy many hobbies, such as collecting guns, shooting guns, or just cleaning and polishing guns over and over and over. And over.

Apeshits make good little league coaches, major league coaches, major league players, rap stars, and professional boxers.

Your natural enemy is: Bullshit

You are most compatible with: Chickenshit

Famous apeshits include: Kirk Douglas, Mike Tyson, that chef guy on Hell's Kitchen, and Mussolini.

What shit are you full of?

The ancient art of fecomancy can help you determine your personality type and how to live your life. Your fate is not ruled by the stars! The stars above are too far away and dim to exert any influence on you; common sense tells us that. No, your fate is ruled by something much closer, maybe even right under your very feet!

Use this handy chart to determine YOUR fecotype now!

BATSHIT

You are very open-minded, creative and always willing to try new things, regardless of the consequences! You can't be tied down to a boring ol' schedule or steady job! You desire a life of exciting new experiences, adventures, and ingestable substances. You're always willing to help someone out or let a creepy stranger into your apartment to "use the phone." You're your own person; nobody else can really appreciate just how special and unique you are, especially since they're all the mind-slaves of Zintar.

Batshits make good: art teachers, ex-girlfriends, horoscope readers, and those people who volunteer to take experimental medications for money.

Your natural enemy is: Horseshit

You are most compatible with: Horseshit

Famous batshits include: Shirley McLaine, Tom Cruise

You are conservative. You like things just the way they are, and you can find change upsetting. You also like to "go with the flow" and you're not interested in "rocking the boat" or correcting the cashier when you get shortchanged. Your big life skill is your wonderful ability to get along with everyone, from rich to poor, from young to old, and from white to big black guys in the convenience store parking lot at 11pm when all you want is to get the cat food and get out please please please Jesus Mary and Joseph let me get the hell out of here don't make eye contact, don't make eye contact, in one piece.

Your natural enemy is: No one! And then again, everyone.

You are most compatible with: Other Chickenshits

Famous chickenshits include: Neville Chamberlin, France.